ALEXANDER MARTIN (1758-1816)

REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER

Alexander Martin was born in 1758 at Staunton, Augusta County, Virginia. He served in the American Revolutionary War in Captain Joseph Alexander's company of militia from Rockbridge County, Virginia, Colonial Samuel McDowell's regiment. General Stephenson was in command under the supervision of General Nathaniel Greene.

At the Battle of Guilford Courthouse, North Carolina, March 15, 1781, Alexander was wounded in the right side. He lay on the battlefield all night, resulting in the loss of his right leg. Lord Cornwallis and his troops were opposing. In the Virginia State Library are manuscripts dated 1786 testifying to this service, one by Hugh Richey Chirmingion, M. D. and Zachariah Johnston, to whose father, William Johnson, Alexander was bound in August, 1758. Zachariah sent clothes and blankets to Alexander and later brought him home.

Alexander received a pension 19 February 1788. He married Jane Black, daughter of Henry and Mary Black of Mossy Creek, Rockingham County, Virginia, June 25, 1788 in Tinkling Springs Church, Augusta County, Virginia. They lived in Augusta County a few years and with his wife and babies migrated to Bourbon County, Kentucky.

In 1797 they moved to Brown County, Ohio near the town of Ripley. Alexander and Jane bought land, built a log cabin and then a two story stone house, called Stonehurst. One of their descendants lives in the house.

Alexander and Jane Black Martin had 14 children. They attended the Straight Creek Presbyterian Church and in 1809 became members of the Red Oak Presbyterian Church of which Alexander was an elder. Alexander, Jane and several of their children are buried on the farm. One tombstone reads: In memory of Alexander Martin, Va. Militia Rev. War., Died September 30, 1816. There is also a DAR marker. Jane's stone reads: Consort of Alexander Martin, born 1764, died February 14, 1834.

The town of Ripley was first named Staunton by Colonial James Poage, R. W. S. from Staunton, Augusta County, Virginia. Colonial Poage purchased a 1,000 acre tract of land in the Virginia Military District along the Ohio River and this land later included the site of Ripley, Ohio. Colonial Poage donated the land for the town.

Colonial Poage's granddaughter, Sophia Mooney, married Adam McPherson Martin, grandson of Alexander Martin.

Through her query placed in the 1st two issues of the "Quarterly" MRS. MARJORIE B. HELMHOLZ, 228 S. BUSCH PL., TUCSON, AZ. 85710 has found proof of parentage of MARIA J. MARTIN who m. WILLIAM MILAM MUSICK.

Mr. Robert Hildebrand of Lansing, Ill. had notes in his files which led Mrs. Helmholz to File #3539 in the Probate Records, St. Louis, Missouri Civil Court Building. The probate packet gave the father & bro. & sisters of Maria J. Martin.

Affidavit dated, 16 Aug. 1851, lists Adam Martin, deceased & heirs:
(1) JOHN MARTIN of St. Louis Co., Mo.
(2) NANCY, wife of CHARLES F. LAKE of St. Louis Co., Mo.
(3) SUSAN M., wife of JOSEPH A. PORTER of St. Louis Co., Mo.
(4) MARIA, wife of MILAM MUSICK of Cole Co., Mo.
(5) CAROLINE M., wife of ELI MOUNCE of Platte Co., Mo.

Now that Mrs. Helmholz has found the Adam Martin, Jr. (found, 1830 & 1850 Census, St. Louis Co., Mo.) was the father of Maria Martin Musick she would like to find parentage of Adam Martin, Jr. He was probably called Jr. because he was the younger Adam Martin living in St. Louis Co. at that time & not because his father was Adam Martin.
